

Farm Animal Graduate Veterinary Surgeons

westpoint farm vets

Applications are invited from motivated new graduates or practising vets for a number of positions at our network of practices across the UK.

As part of VetPartners, we offer a highly competitive package with clear career structure, enabling individuals to develop professionally and personally.

Successful applicants will work as part of the team in one of our progressive practices where they will be mentored by experienced farm vets. Additional support and development will be provided through the VetPartners Farm Animal Graduate Development Programme.

The programme provides new and recent graduates with the necessary training and support to allow them to develop as farm animal clinicians. Delivered by industry experts, the aim of the programme is to produce veterinary surgeons with the knowledge, skills and ability to deal with all aspects of modern farm animal practice.
